

Benchmark Study

The starting point for improving value in any organisation is to understand current performance. Performance improvement and cost reduction initiatives can then be targeted on 'improvement' areas. Coretex helps organisations to understand their:

- Efficiency; space and costs
- Effectiveness; workplace, energy, environment, procurement, management processes and results

An analysis can then be carried out to establish benchmarks of performance:

- Internally; using internal benchmarks across a client estate,
- Externally; using external benchmarks with other similar organisations
